Attendance (Staff)	Students, Employees, Visitors and Contractors	<ol> <li>Under the national lockdown, the expectation is that everybody should work from home where possible. School leaders are best placed to determine the workforce that is required in school, taking into account the updated guidance for those staff who are clinically extremely vulnerable. The expectation is that those staff not attending school will work from home where possible.</li> <li>All staff attending the school setting should follow the measures set out in the system of controls section of this guidance to minimise the risks of transmission. This includes continuing to observe good hand and respiratory hygiene and maintaining social distancing in line with the provisions as set out in the 'prevention' section.</li> <li>School leaders should explain to staff the measures the school has put in place to reduce risks. We anticipate adherence to the measures in this guidance will provide the necessary reassurance for staff to attend school.</li> <li>If staff are concerned, including those who may be clinically vulnerable or who believe they may be at possible increased risk from coronavirus, we recommend school leaders discuss any concerns individuals may have around their particular circumstances and reassure staff about the protective measures in place</li> </ol>	2	4	8	Headteacher	11/01/2021	<ol> <li>Due to the high number of children in school, all support staff are required in school – teachers are on a rota, half to teach in school and the other half to support home learning.</li> <li>Info sent to staff on 11/01/20.</li> <li>Info sent to staff on 11/01/20.</li> </ol>

Music, Dance and Drama- You should continue teaching music, dance and drama as part of your school curriculum. There may, however, be an additional risk of infection in environments where singing, chanting, playing wind or brass instruments, dance or drama takes place. 2. The overarching objective should be to reduce the number of contacts amongst pupils, and between pupils and staff, including for rehearsal and performance. As set out in the system of controls, this can be achieved through keeping groups separate (in bubbles) and through maintaining social distance between individuals. These are not alternative options. Both measures will help, but the balance between them will change depending on the age of pupils, the layout of the building, and the feasibility of keeping groups separate from each other while offering a broad curriculum. <ul> <li>a. Increasing ventilation	Students, Employees, Visitors and Contractors	<ol> <li>Once the school is in operation, it is important to ensure it is well ventilated and a comfortable teaching environment is maintained.         <ul> <li>a. This can be achieved by a variety of measures including:</li> <li>i. mechanical ventilation systems – these should be adjusted to increase the ventilation rate wherever possible, and checked to confirm that normal operation meets current guidance (if possible, systems should be adjusted to full fresh air or, if not, then systems should be operated as normal as long as they are within a single room and supplemented by an outdoor air supply). Where mechanical ventilation systems exist, you should ensure they are maintained in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations. Good ventilation with fresh air is essential at all times in classrooms and particularly during this period.</li> <li>ii. natural ventilation – opening windows (in cooler weather windows should be opened just enough to provide constant background ventilation, and opened more fully during breaks to purge the air in the space). Opening internal doors can also assist with creating a throughput of air. If necessary external opening doors may also be used (as long as they are not fire doors and where safe to do so)</li> </ul> </li> <li>To balance the need for increased ventilation while maintaining a comfortable temperature, the following measures should also be used as appropriate:</li></ol>
